

Alexander Delli Paoli, Jr., P.E.

MANAGING DIRECTOR

Libertyville, IL USA

001.847.204.9957

alex@engineervisions.com

www.EngineerVisions.com

Concept Planning/Project Development

Mr. Delli Paoli is available to help your team maximize its efforts.

The ability to focus an organization or project team is the first step to a successful venture. Alex has extensive experience working with groups in both the private and public sectors. He provides a non-threatening, engaging problem solving approach to team dynamics. Samples of his experiences include:

- He developed a facilities assessment program for marketing of value-added services to targeted hospitals. Alex served as liaison for this program; identifying resources within the corporation that could be of service in the hospital environment he worked with the various groups to complete a consistent presentation and report format. The program included four services: Energy Management, Housekeeping, Metrology, and Maintenance Management.
- Alex served as a unifying focal point for two communities divided over the future of a high school serving both communities. Four prior attempts to get voter approval failed. Alex work with the Board of Education and the two communities to create a team to evaluate options and educate the communities about the benefits of passing additional funding and the consequences of a referendum not passing for a fifth time.

Mr. Delli Paoli was recently granted a patent for a medical device. He is pursuing design development and commercialization, serving as the project manager.